Financial Obligation Contract

The operation of any endeavor falls heavily on its financial support. Therefore, it is important that all parents understand that the payment of tuitions and all other charges is important for the well being and success of this studio. Timely payments are not only an obligation and a sign of the support that we expect from our families, but also, a necessity for the continuing operation of Studio D. Arrears over $500, will result in a conference with the Director and Office Manager who will determine what course will be taken. I understand my financial obligation and agree to pay my tuition and charges when due.
